DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the term "the present invention" is stated in lines 1 and 3. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).
2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Claim Objections

3. Claims 8, 14, 15, 27, 33, and 34 objected to because of the following informalities:

Claims 8 and 27 recite "the resin-type coating material" in line 1, which lacks antecedent basis.

Claims 14 and 33 recite "the resin consolidation material" in line 1, which lacks antecedent basis.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16-18, 20-25, 27, 29, 31, 33, and 35-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nguyen'105.

Nguyen'105 discloses a method that includes, with respect to claims 1 and 20, a method of drilling a well bore [or consolidating formation particulates surrounding a wellbore] comprising the steps of: providing a drilling composition comprising a drilling fluid and a consolidating material; and using the drilling composition while drilling the well bore and allowing the consolidating material in the drilling composition to penetrate into the walls of the well bore. With respect to the depending claims, the reference teaches the limitations as claimed, including the consolidation material comprising a hardenable resin component, the hardenable resin component comprising a hardenable resin and a hardening agent component, a liquid hardening agent (including amino functioning groups), a silane coupling agent (including amino silanes), a surfactant, fluid loss control material, and an furfuryl alcohol resin-type coating material.

6. Claims 1-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Nguyen et al. (US 2005/0000731).

Nguyen et al. discloses a method that includes, with respect to claims 1 and 20, a method of drilling a well bore [or consolidating formation particulates surrounding a wellbore] comprising the steps of: providing a drilling composition comprising a drilling fluid and a consolidating material; and using the drilling composition while drilling the well bore and allowing the consolidating material in the drilling composition to penetrate into the walls of the well bore. With respect to the depending claims, the reference teaches the limitations as claimed, including the consolidation material comprising a hardenable resin component, the hardenable resin component comprising a hardenable resin and a hardening agent component, a liquid hardening agent (including amino functioning groups), a silane coupling agent (including amino silanes), a surfactant, solvents, fluid loss control material, and an furfuryl alcohol resin-type coating material.

The applied reference has a common assignee (and at least one inventor) with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.
